HIGHLAND SWORD - Ruth Langan 2014-04-15

A Witch, A Warrior And The Wilds Of Scotland...! 'Twas like a quest out of legend, Merrick MacAndrew knew, but he would risk anything to save his dying son—even kidnapping Allegra Drummond, whose mystical healing talents ran apace with her power to set his heart ablaze! What enchantment, this? A giant of a Highland lord had torn Allegra Drummond from idyllic seclusion to do his bidding! No matter that his reasons were noble, rousing her compassion and concern. Merrick MacAndrew had used a life-transforming magic of his own to bind her to him forever—heart, body and soul!

Natural Histories - Guadalupe Nettel 2014-06-10

Siamese fighting fish, cockroaches, cats, a snake, and a strange fungus all serve here as mirrors that reflect the unconfessable aspects of human nature buried within us. The traits and fates of these animals illuminate such deeply natural, human experiences as the cruelty born of cohabitation, the desire to reproduce and the impulse not to, and the inexplicable connection that can bind, eerily, two beings together. Each Nettel tale creates, with tightly wound narrative tension, a space wherein her characters feel excruciatingly human, exploring how the wounds we incur in life manifest themselves within us, clandestinely, irrevocably, both unseen and overtly. In a precise writing style that is both subtle and spellbinding, Nettel renders the ordinary unsettling, and the grotesque exquisite. Natural Histories is the winner of the 3rd Ribera del Duero International Award for Short Narratives, an important Spanish literature prize.

25 de mayo. La tragedia olvidada - Miguel Ángel Pérez Oca 2013-01-30

Me cuesta asimilar que, después de casi 30 años de democracia, nadie haya colocado un recuerdo, una lápida, en homenaje a aquellos más de trescientos alicantinos que perdieron la vida en el bombardeo del Mercado de Alicante, el 25 de mayo de 1938. Y me cuesta también comprender que no se haya escrito un solo libro sobre aquella pavorosa y terrible matanza indiscriminada, y que cuando se citan los momentos más trágicos de nuestra incivil contienda se omita este hecho. Ahora ya, no. Miguel Ángel Pérez Oca lo ha hecho posible. En su esfuerzo encontró siempre la ayuda de los alicantinos, que a través del programa Alicante, hoy por hoy le llevaron sus recuerdos, sus memorias del que seguramente fue el día más negro, duro y trágico de la historia de Alicante. Vicente Hipólito. Periodista. Algunos de nosotros pensamos que es mucho mejor conocer la verdad, aunque sólo sea por unos instantes, que vivir toda la vida lleno de preguntas. Miguel Ángel Pérez Oca es uno de ellos. Con este libro, 25 de Mayo. La tragedia olvidada, el autor ha tenido la valentía de abrir ese pequeño arcón, enmohecido y polvoriento, en el que duermen desde hace décadas algunos de los acontecimientos más importantes de nuestro pasado. Al conocer los terribles sucesos del bombardeo del Mercado Central, el lector recibe una puñalada certera en su corazón olvidadizo; una puñalada cargada de dolor y dramatismo, es cierto. Pero también una puñalada de rigor histórico, de recuerdos perdidos y, sobre todo, de una libertad que nunca nos tuvo que arrebatar nadie. Al igual que el protagonista de esta novela, Giordano Pittaluga, usted descubrirá que hay alicantinos que no quieren que esas 300 muertes queden sin su debido reconocimiento y memoria. Este libro es una muestra palpable de cómo la irracionalidad puede dejar paso, poco a poco, al recuerdo y al homenaje del sacrificio de tantos inocentes. Juan José Amores Liza. Presidente de la Asociación Cultural Alicante Vivo. Por las páginas de La tragedia olvidada desfila todo el abirragado mundo que aquel 25 de mayo llenaba el mercado de Alicante, sobre el que cayó una inmisericorde lluvia de metralla y de muerte, y ante nuestros ojos lo pone la pluma de Miguel Ángel Pérez Oca, de tal modo que si su objetivo fue recrear, del modo más veraz posible, aquella indescriptible tragedia podemos decir que lo ha conseguido plenamente. Manuel Parra Pozuelo, de la Comisión Cívica para la recuperación de la Memoria Histórica de Alicante, en un artículo de la revista AUCA. Miguel Ángel Pérez Oca nos trae en este libro la verdad de la memoria en la memoria de la verdad, la realidad de los bombardeos de Alicante en el contexto de la verdad histórica, y lo hace a través de una investigación literaria emocionante después de 67 años de silencio. Mariano Sánchez Soler. Escritor y periodista.

Palinuro of Mexico - Fernando del Paso 1996

Like those writers to whom he has been compared - Fuentes, Garcia Marquez, James Joyce, and Rabelais - del Paso draws upon myth, science, and world literature to expand his particular story to universal proportions. Telling the story of a medical student who's engaged in an incestuous affair with his cousin, the novel satirizes advertising, politics, pornography, and mythology, while at the same time celebrating the body with a thoroughness that only a student of medicine could manage.

Vlad - Carlos Fuentes 2012-07-18

Where, Carlos Fuentes asks, is a modern-day vampire to roost? Why not Mexico City, populated by ten million blood sausages (that is, people), and a police force who won't mind a few disappearances? "Vlad" is Vlad the Impaler, of course, whose mythic cruelty was an inspiration for Bram Stoker's Dracula. In this sly sequel, Vlad really is undead: dispossessed after centuries of mayhem by Eastern European wars and rampant blood shortages. More than a postmodern riff on "the vampire craze," Vlad is also an anatomy of the Mexican bourgeoisie, as well as our culture's ways of dealing with death. For—as in Dracula—Vlad has need of both a lawyer and a real-estate agent in order to establish his new kingdom, and Yves Navarro and his wife Asunción fit the bill nicely. Having recently lost a son, might they not welcome the chance to see their remaining child live forever? More importantly, are the pleasures of middle-class life enough to keep one from joining the legions of the damned?

One Hundred Years of Solitude - Gabriel Garcia Marquez 2003-06-24

One of the 20th century's enduring works, One Hundred Years of Solitude is a widely beloved and acclaimed novel known throughout the world, and the ultimate achievement in a Nobel Prize-winning career. The novel tells the story of the rise and fall of the mythical town of Macondo through the history of the Buendía family. It is a rich and brilliant chronicle of life and death, and the tragicomedy of humankind. In the noble, ridiculous, beautiful, and tawdry story of the Buendía family, one sees all of humanity, just as in the history, myths, growth, and decay of Macondo, one sees all of Latin America. Love and lust, war and revolution, riches and poverty, youth and senility -- the variety of life, the endlessness of death, the search for peace and truth -- these universal themes dominate the novel. Whether he is describing an affair of passion or the voracity of capitalism and the corruption of government, Gabriel García Márquez always writes with the simplicity, ease, and purity that are the mark of a master. Alternately reverential and comical, One Hundred Years of Solitude weaves the political, personal, and spiritual to bring a new consciousness to storytelling. Translated into dozens of languages, this stunning work is no less than an accounting of the history of the human race.

Daughter of the Sea - Rosalía de Castro 1995

"Daughter of the Sea" is the first of five novels written in Spanish by the Galician Rosalia de Castro (1837-1885). Its characters and events reflect the young author's concern for the Galician people, particularly those of the coastal area, and for women. In this story of passion and violence, cloaked in a supposedly romantic style, Castro joins other nineteenth-century women authors in denouncing economic and social injustice. This is the first translation of her fiction, and it brings to English-speaking readers a spirit that is comparable to George Sand, Madame de Stael, and the Brontes."

Bezoar - Guadalupe Nettel 2020-08-11

One of the most important and watched writers of today. Intricately woven masterpieces of craft, mournful for their human cries in defiance of our sometimes less than human surroundings, Nettel's stories and novels are dazzlingly enjoyable to read for their deep interest in human foibles. Following on the critical successes of her previous books, here are six stories that capture her unsettling, obsessive universe. "Ptosis" is told from the point of view of the son of a photographer whose work involves before and after pictures of patients undergoing cosmetic eye surgeries. In "Through Shades," a woman studies a man interacting with a woman through the windows of the apartment across the street. In one of the longer stories, "Bonsai," a man visits a garden, and comes to know a gardener, during the period of dissolution of his marriage. "The Other Side of the Dock" describes a young girl in search of what she terms "True Solitude," who finds a fellow soul mate only to see the thing they share lose its meaning. In "Petals," a woman's odor drives a man to search for her, and even to find her, without quenching the thirst that is his undoing. And the title story, "Bezoar," is an intimate journal of a patient writing to a doctor. Each narrative veers towards unknown and dark corridors, and the pleasures of these accounts lie partly in the great surprise of the familiarity together with the strangeness.
